#YOU CAN DO GREAT BUSINESS

but you don't have to do it alone.

What We Do

The Surfneers provide consultancy services in the fields of surface engineering, process development and related manufacturing engineering challenges.

We assist in bringing your R&D vision to life, streamlining your development and production processes and enable you to solve your problems through a wide network of experts to deliver the solution you need.

1 The Surfneers will partner with your staff, to define your project scope and plan, develop comprehensive process optimisations, identify problems and opportunities, and deliver long-term, sustainable improvements.

2 We're established in three core consultancy areas and each is perfectly complemented by the other. This means we are ready for your challenge, and we'll be there no matter what.

Our Vision

We believe in great technologies and see surfaces as the direct path to success.

Interfaces are what define the challenge, the engineering task, the opportunity. Our vision is to identify the good, the bad and the ugly and deliver an authentic and long term solution with our partners. From surface engineering, via reporting, business and marketing – only a holistic approach will drive technology into success.

Our Mission

The Surfneers are here to assist by sustainably improving processes.

No matter if you're having an R&D problem, an industrialisation topic or a lack in experience in surface modification or measurement methods – this not only helps you and the company solve short-term problems but creates a more communicative team and grows your capability to deliver increased value to your customers.

“Innovation” used to mean the difference between dictating trends in your sector or following the trail of your competition’s success, but today the term refers to a fundamental condition of existence for businesses in the volatile and demanding Digital Age.
